

What We're Loving & Why: *Nailboo At-Home Dip Mani

1. Nailboo	Description: Where you can get it: Variables:	The DIY dip manicure that lasts Nailboo.com, Amazon.com, Sally Beauty, Walmart multiple colors to choose from including natural
2. Purpose	What it does: Why we got it:	Like salon dip manicures, but saving you money & travel no time or access to salon manicures (plus curious!)
3. Cost	What it costs: How cost compares: How it's packaged:	Nailboo says only $2.49/mani If your salon mani costs $35, you're saving a lot with Nailboo Various kits available with build powder, activator, color dip powder and remover.
4. Compare	What we used before: How this compares:	local nail salons If your mani typically costs $35, considerably less!
5. Quality	About the craftsmanship: About the design:	Easily as good as the dips used by salons & well packaged. Brushes could stand an upgrade to the broader, thicker variety in Gel nail polishes
6. Efficiency	Time required: Frequency of use:	First tries take longer, but speed picks up with more tries! Depends on how quickly your nails grow. Per Nailboo up to 6 weeks chip-free.
7. Ease	How long does it take? How easy is it to use?	A while because you do a 3-step process for each nail Easy if you've got dexterity in your non-dominant hand.
8	The Best:	Practice makes perfect so this system could be the answer for those who want to save money and are good at painting your nails!
9	The Worst:	If you're not good at painting your non-dominant hand, you won't be any good at this, either.
10	Kiss or Smack-down?	Big kiss for those who have dexterity, but for those of us who struggle with painting our nails OR want 'perfection' it's a no- go.
